November 15, 2022 – Final Best By Dates for General Mills and Post Oat Cereals on Yoshon.com

Project Chodosh normally lists the cutoff date as being the first day a product is chodosh, (which TYNI follows). Based on the announcement below, this would make the General Mills chodosh cutoff date for Oats to be October 4, 2022, and the Post chodosh cutoff date for Oats to be October 1, 2022. (See our General Cutoff Date Sheet above.)

Since shelf life times for these two companies are the same for all of their respective cereals, the cutoff dates for oat-containing cereals that will be put on our site will be as follows:

General Mills (372 days) – Date Code: Best If Used By 11OCT2023

Post (1 year) – Date Code: Best If Used By OCT0123.

November 15, 2022 – Notes on Corona Beer

It has come to our attention that Corona Beer is only yoshon when imported to Israel, and those products do not need “Yoshon” on the package. The OK’s Yoshon Products Search on their website has stated it in the past, but presently it is not listed as such. To clarify, Corona beer bought in the USA will not be certified as yoshon. Today, November 15, 2022 is the packing date cutoff day for beer, so those wanting their favorite brew, stock up now!

November 15, 2022 – Ardent Mills Flours from Albany, NY Update

Although it was as of September 15, 2022, we just got word of this today. The Packing Date Cutoff of all Ardent Mills flours from the Albany plant only, is September 23, 2022. That is the date in which the plant starts to use chodosh spring wheat.
