Estimates on Oats and Some Product Info

August 3, 2023 – Estimates on Oats for Canada

“As a general overview of the Canadian oats situation

Eastern oats – harvest will not start before third week of August at the earliest. Plant do not expect to receive new crop before Labor day. Actual milling will depend on how dry the husks are and carryover from last year. Western oats – dates look very similar to eastern products. Currently, this year’s crop appears to be 1-2 weeks later than previous years. Again, for actual milling start dates, additional factors come into play.”
