The Season Is Starting!

August 4, 2023 – Newly Updated Yoshon Lists

There is not a lot of new info yet, but it is just starting to trickle in. What we have is what there is for now. We are starting to update the Yoshon.com website, and with it the Yoshon Lists, that contain as much info as possible.

Note that most actual grain cutoff dates are still TBA, and will be updated as we get information, but this is a start. Mostly wheat cereal dates for those companies that have their own mills and have their own special dates. The following is what is available now, but we will add to it as time goes on.

Here are the links for the current Direct Document Downloads:
